

*You are invited to join us for a School of Nursing Lecture
co-sponsored with ICTS:*

THE HOW AND WHY OF IMPLEMENTATION SUCCESS -- OR FAILURE

Per Nilsen

Professor of Social Medicine and Public Health
Linköping University, Linköping, Sweden

Per Nilsen is a Professor of Social Medicine and Public Health, with a particular focus on implementation science, at Linköping University, Sweden. He was responsible for building a research program on implementation science at Linköping University, which has attracted national and international interest. He leads several projects on implementation of evidence-based practices in various health care and community settings. Nilsen takes particular interest in issues concerning behavior and practice change and the application of theories, models and frameworks for improved understanding and explanation of implementation challenges

Monday, January 22, 2018 at 4:00 - 5:00 p.m.

The presentation will be facilitated by:
Miriam Bender, PhD, RN, Assistant Professor
Sue & Bill Gross School of Nursing
University of California, Irvine

Location: Hewitt Hall, Room 1042 (first floor)