

Nursing Science Scholar Forum

The peer-reviewed journal manuscript submission process:

From references to reviewer
comments

Miriam Bender, PhD
Assistant Professor
Program in Nursing Science, UCI

This workshop will guide participants through the manuscript finalizing-to-publishing process. We will review a number of reference organization/citation tools and demonstrate how they can be used to both organize literature during the writing process and cite it in manuscripts. We will demonstrate the manuscript submission process, including the mundane yet important steps of proper citation format, title pages, acknowledgment sections, etc. Finally, we will describe the process of responding to reviewer comments as part of a resubmission process.
